Career of the Week - Paramedic

You can become a Paramedic through : a university course, an apprenticeship, working towards this role or apply for a trainee scheme. You'll need to do a paramedic science degree approved by the Health and Care Professions Council.

Paramedics will take on these responsibilities : respond to emergency calls, assess situations when you arrive and check details with others at the scene, like the police, work calmly and quickly to stabilise patients, use a defibrillator to revive patients, give patients medicines and injections, help to deliver babies, attend non-emergency calls and decide whether patients need to go to hospital, check equipment regularly and keep accurate records and reassure family and members of the public who are on the scene.

Does this sound like you? You're calm under pressure, and are good at putting people at ease, even if they're distressed or aggressive. You're responsible, caring and enjoy helping others. If so, a Paramedic may be the career for you!

If you would like more information contact Mr Bowles (gbowles@theangmeringschool.co.uk)

International Women's Day

On Friday 8th March, we celebrated the social, economic, cultural, and political achievements of women around the world. At The Angmering School, we stood in solidarity with all the women who have worked tirelessly to make the world a more inclusive and equitable place. We believed that everyone deserved to have equal opportunities and rights, and we were committed to supporting and empowering our school community and beyond. We continued to work towards a brighter and more equal future for all!
